THE MEDICATED COUGH CANDY.

LOVE of Indiana, and Mr. Smith, of Massachusetts. These gentlemen have but late concluded their labors, and they have found that in the ten Democratic districts of the State of New York, including the City of New York and the city of Brooklyn, 14,000 more men were assigned as the quota than could justly be demanded in proportion to the quota of other districts. In their report these commissioners make use of the following language: "The commissioners, after a full investigation, and in view of the facts elicited, are unanimous of the opinion that the enrollment of the State of New York is imperfect and erroneous, excessive in some districts and possibly to small in others, and certainly excessive in the cities of New York and Brooklyn, especially as compared with other States, and cannot be relied upon as a just and equitable basis for the adjustment of the quota of the city of New York, or among the several districts thereof."

Sir, this was the source of those riots.

The people then knew that a gigantic fraud was about to be perpetrated upon them. This knowledge compelled them to speak out for their rights, and if possible the discussion of this wrong about to be perpetrated upon the people of New York produced these riots, it was the fault of the Administration, and not of the Democracy of that city.

Now, sir, I shall draw to a conclusion. The gentlemen on the other side charge us with disloyalty. The other day they disclaimed any charge of disloyalty against the Democratic party as a mass; but said that there were individuals in that party who were disloyal. The gentleman from Philadelphia (Mr. Watson) said this evening that the Democratic party had been guilty of disloyal practices. They are changing their tactics. There is something wrong on the other side of the House in regard to the subject under discussion. Now, I ask no favor on this question of loyalty or the gentlemen on the other side. If they choose, they may call me "disloyal."

What's in a name?

A rose by any other name

Would smell as sweet.

I feel, sir, that I love my country—that I respect and cherish this government, and that I would sacrifice just as much as any other gentleman in this House to sustain and perpetuate it. For that reason I care not if gentlemen do call me "disloyal."

But I propose to pay no back in their own coin. I propose to take their disloyalty of the word "disloyal," and I propose to arraign them on charges of disloyalty to the Constitution, and, therefore, to the government.

I arraign the party in power at the bar of public opinion, for that they have subverted freedom of conscience, by suspending ministers, superintendents, and other agents for the churches, prescribing certain tests of political religious orthodoxy. I arraign them, for that they have abrogated the freedom of the press, by the seizure and imprisonment of editors, as they have contended in this discussion without warrant of law, and by the destruction of printing offices by mob violence. I arraign them, for that they have attempted to suppress freedom of speech by the arrest and punishment of citizens, without the preference of charges against them, and without trial according to law. I arraign them, for that they have rendered insecure the freedom of the person by the suspension of the habeas corpus in States not in rebellion against the Government. I arraign them, for that they have suspended trial by jury, in many instances by the establishment of military tribunals in its stead, in districts where the courts are impeded in the administration of justice. I arraign them, in the language of the Declaration of Independence, for that they have "affected to render the military independent of, and superior to, the civil power." I arraign them, for that they have established test-owths, foreign to our form of government, and unknown to any of our laws. I arraign them, for that they have interfered with the freedom of the ballot, by adding names at the polls; for that they have attempted to destroy the equality of the States, by giving the same power in the Government to one-tenth of the terms of citizens. I arraign them, for that they have, in many instances, created a multitude of new offices, and "sent among us swarms of officers, to harass our people, and eat out our substance;" and for that they have wasted the public resources, spent billions of money, and sacrificed many armies, without establishing the authority of the Government over the revolted States, restoring peace, or giving us any assurance of an early termination of the present insurrection.

These charges, sir, I prefer against the party in power, and I challenge their denial. There is not one word of them that is not true to the letter. Imperial history will record it, and the judgment of the civilized world will pronounce the record just.

Passion, prejudices, and selfish interest may lead the disinterested and the masses, but the time is fast approaching when the people and their destroyers shall see eye to eye, and when the Molochian of political Abolitionism shall be unveiled and exposed in all his native hideousness and deformity.

THE WAR NEWS.

There is very little in the way of army news. The expedition which left Vicksburg on the 10th inst., under the command of Admiral Porter, for the Red river country, has reached Alexandria, La., capturing Forts B. and G. in that vicinity, with eleven guns and nearly 300 prisoners. Alexandria is 150 miles from the mouth of the Red river, and was occupied in May last by Admiral Porter, who subsequently withdrew his forces to participate in the attack on Port Hudson. Gen. Dick Taylor is in the immediate neighborhood, and it is not likely that Admiral Porter will send his land forces far from the river.

Lieutenant General Grant left Washington on Thursday for the Headquarters of the Army of the Potomac, where he has already commenced the work of reorganization. The corps of this army are reduced to three, the First and Third Corps being absorbed in the others. Gen. Sykes, and a number of other officers, have been detached from the Potomac army. Major General Smith is to have position as chief-of-staff to the Lieutenant General.

There is a report of a movement by the rebels upon Columbus, Ky.

THE DEMOCRACY AND THE SOLDIERS.

The Abolition faction, with a cunning and basely beyond all precedent, are busily at work inflicting the miseries of the soldiers with the idea that their Democratic fellow-citizens at home are their natural enemies. That disorder and bloodshed should result from such teachings, is an inevitable consequence. The trouble is that these calamities fall chiefly upon the heads of the misguided and deceived soldiers, or upon the Democratic citizens. The bad men who cause this ill feeling between the army and civilians, take very good care to keep themselves scrupulously out of harm's way. They rejoice in stirring up blood-feuds, but they have an undivided share of that self-saving discretion, which is said to be "the better part of valor."

If Democratic journals were allowed ample and free circulation in the army, the ill-judged prejudices which are excited by Abolition malice, would be destroyed. As it is, the soldiers are getting daily a better insight into the foolish character of the fanatics who are striving to provoke them to ill will towards their brothers and fathers and friends at home. In time they will turn their just wrath upon the men who have deceived them, and the story of Acton will receive a fresh illustration. Patriot & Union.

"Union Leagues," composed of negroes, are being organized in Philadelphia. Petitions to the Legislature of this State are immediately to be got up, "asking that body to take such action, previous to adjournment, as will give the colored people of Pennsylvania the right to vote, and all the privileges of other citizens." The infatuation of the opposition on the nigger question will be noted in ages to come as one of the evidences of insanity of a large portion of the people of the present day.

Tuesday last the U. S. Senate passed a bill providing for the coining of one and two cent pieces from a "different alloy" from that now used—the one cent piece to be a legal tender to the amount of ten cents, and the two cent piece a legal tender to the amount of twenty cents.
